South Bethlehem, Pa., Nov. 10.—Fire early today almost completely destroyed the Number Four machine shop of the Bethlehem Steel company. Only the skeleton of the big building is standing. Machinery and war material in the building was said to be worth millions of dollars. How the fire started is not known. It was discovered in what is known as the boring mills section of the plant among a quantity of oil. The fire spread rapidly and soon the entire building was wrapped in flames. The fire department of the steel plant was called into action, as well as the departments from our neighboring towns but their efforts were mainly devoted to saving adjoining property. The value of the guns alone in the ship is said to be several million dollars. There were about one thousand machines of different kinds in the building running from lathes, shapers, drills and down to boring machines. These machines were worth from $400 to several thousands dollars each and it is estimated the value of the machinery was several million. The burned shop was 260 feet wide, 700 feet long and four stories high. On these four floors 2,050 men were employed in day and night shifts. In the neighborhood of 800 men were at work when the fire started and so rapidly did it spread that (Continued On Page Six)

World Needs A Pentecostal Not An Armageddon Says W. J. Bryan

Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—Former Secretary Bryan today added a chapter to his disagreement with President Wilson over the question of national defense by issuing a formal statement in support of the president's recent quotation from the scriptures in support of his advocacy of military preparedness. The same quotation has been used by Colonel Roosevelt in a recent published article.

"It is not surprising that Mr. Bryan should consult the old testament rather than the new," said Mr. Bryan's statement. "He calls to mind the old testament, but why should the president, a Presbyterian elder, stress over the new gospel in which love is the chief cornerstone and build his defense upon a passage in the old testament, written at a time when the children of Israel were surrounded by enemies? It is all right for Mr. Roosevelt to sound the trumpet because all colors are red to him. He sees armies marching against us from every direction, but the president is a man of peace and he is in a position to know that no one is threatening to attack us. It is surprising, first, that in looking up bible authority he should ignore the teachings of Christ, and second, that he should select a passage that refers, not to preparation against imaginary dangers, but immediate action to meet an attack actually made. What the world needs today is a pentecostal not an armageddon."

MRS. EVANS BELIEVES GOD IS PUNISHING HER

Says She Idolized Her Daughter And Forgot All Else; Tells A Sad Story

Lon D. Smith, the Ironton furniture man, whose alleged relations with Della Evans, a young stenographer of this city, led to his arrest last Sunday and subsequent imprisonment, was released from the county jail Tuesday evening about 8 o'clock on $300 bond, furnished by his brother-in-law, Larkin Covert, of this city.

Smith was bound over to the grand jury under bond of $2000, but Judge Stephenson reduced the bond to $300 after he had been placed in the county jail, the bond having been placed too high for the offense charged, according to the court. Smith returned to Ironton Tuesday night, a friend coming after him in an automobile.

The charge of white slavery was not placed against Smith in this city, but it is understood that the attorneys for Mr. and Mrs. Jett Evans will press those charges against him before the United States Commissioner at Ironton. Mr. Evans went to Ironton for that purpose Tuesday noon.

Mrs. Evans, whose lot it fell to become Smith's Nemesis, rattled the family skeleton in describing to Mayor Adam Fick, Tuesday, the events leading up to her daughter's downfall.

The broken hearted mother was the picture of distress as she passionately expressed the belief that she was the victim of retribution. "The first six years of my married life I begrudged others their children, whether it was because we didn't care for children or could not have any. I could not say, but when this little girl came into the world I idolized her above my Maker, and throughout her infancy loved her more than all else and never gave anyone else not even God a thought, and the Almighty must now be punishing me for it," said she. Mrs. Evans said she and her husband schooled the child, giving her a musical and commercial education to the best of their ability and the future held out great hopes for her.

Daughter Went To Work For Smith

When they moved to Ironton, where Mr. Evans was employed in the new Excelsior factory, the daughter secured employment at Smith's furniture store as bookkeeper. Some weeks later she came home in a terrible frame of mind. She said she was in dread fear of her employer and declared she would never return to the store again. The mother, who was then an invalid, having just passed through a long illness, argued with her that it was but fair that she give Smith due notice of her intention to leave and not to leave him in the lurch. Della accordingly returned to the store but that same day told him she was going to leave. Smith got down on his knees and begged her to stay, telling her what all he would do for her. She remained firm in her decision. This made him desperate and he accused her of being short in her accounts and threatened her with exposure and arrest. Later he admitted that he had framed up the story as a subterfuge to keep her in his employ, Mrs. Evans said. Mrs. Evans said she wrote to Smith's wife telling her that her condition precluded her from visiting her and asked that she (Mrs. Smith) visit her, suggesting that they might settle matters between them as comfortable as possible to all concerned.

Says Mrs. Smith Made No Reply

She never came and made no reply to the letter. Mrs. Evans to make sure that her letter reached its destination, sent a friend around to the Smith home. This friend inquired of her if she had received a letter from Mrs. Evans and she said she had. Later after she was able to walk Mrs. Evans said she went to Smith's store to discuss matters with him but was ordered from the place. Mrs. Evans said her daughter confessed to her that Smith had ruined her but she could not bring herself to believe it and it was now just beginning to dawn upon her how he had dragged her child down. When out of his power and beyond his influence, she said Della was the most lovable, kind and obedient daughter imaginable.

Girl Unmoved By Mother's Story

Throughout the mother's dramatic and pathetic narrative the daughter sat by her side, apparently unmoved. This prompted the mayor to say her in scathing terms. The mayor said when first informed of the case he expected to find himself face to face with some common looking female. "But her what confronts me," said he, "look at those shoes, those garments that hat, all up to the height of fashion. Why, there are thousands of young men around here who would extend a glad invitation to so fascinating a person like her and to think she is throwing herself away on a person who has not the first vestige of good looks and who is about the most uncouth and unkempt looking business man I have ever gazed upon."

"That man back there," continued the mayor, as he pointed towards the prison at the rear, "would not spend 75 cents for a license to marry you but he would willingly spend a fortune or all he possessed to travel around with you and shower you with all the luxuries possible just to rob you of your virtue. But after five years and after you have suffered the kicks and cuffs and he has tired of you, you will remember your dear mother and be only too glad to return to her protecting arms."

Mayor Commends Worried Mother

The mayor commended Mrs. Evans for the course she was pursuing, saying it was but mother-like for her to extend a helping hand and try to lift up her daughter, ruined though she already was.

Turning to the daughter, the mayor, seeing she was still unaffected, said: "Your mother's heart is bleeding for you right now, and you, right now, down in the bottom of your heart are seething your mother because she has come between you and keeping you away from that fellow out there."

The mayor told Mrs. Evans that the moment he learned the details of the whole affair he dismissed the charge of disorderly conduct that had been preferred against her and resolved to waste no time in bringing to justice the man who had destroyed her once happy home.

Speaking of the interview later the mayor said it was one of the most intensely pitiful sights he had ever beheld when the mother related the story of the troubles Smith had brought to her family circle and for him was one of the most trying ordeals of his official career. He said there had been events crowded into that eighteen months clandestine courtship between the married mother and young stenographer to fill a big sized book.

Corn Growers To Make Trip; Poor Girls Must Stay Home

Ohio girls who won prizes in domestic science contests throughout the state during the past few months will not get to go to Columbus for a week's special training in the department of domestic science at Ohio State university.

The legislature appropriated $5,000 for junior contest work, and it was supposed that these girls would get their share of it. Last year nearly every county was represented when about 100 girls went at the state's expense to the university. This year none will go.

The word has just been given out that the state board of agriculture will need all the money to finance the excursion to Washington, and to pay part of the cost of bringing champion corn-growers to the state fair.

A HAPPY LIFE.

Happiness is not to be procured like hard cake in a solid lump. It is composed of innumerable small items. The recipes for its acquisition are simple, and therefore we ignore them. Love in marriage, fidelity in friendship, affection between parent and children, courtesy in intercourse, devotion to duty and perfect sincerity in every relation of life—these are the ingredients that go to make a happy life. —Sarah Grand.

One Great Seal Lost.

History records the irrecoverable loss of only one great seal—the first of George III. This event occurred when Lord Thurlow was lord chancellor. One morning in March, 1784, his lordship's residence in Great Ormond street was broken into by burglars, who carried off the great seal, along with a sum of money and two silver bladed swords. The privy council was summoned to deal with this great emergency, and the royal engraver was ordered to reproduce another great seal, which he did in thirty-six hours by working day and night. Lord Thurlow always slept with the new seal under his pillow during the subsequent years he was lord chancellor.—London Mail.

LOCKED DOORS COST TWELVE LIVES IN FIRE

Meaning of Dreams.

Dreams are not the disordered phantasies of a partially sleeping brain, but are logical and well ordered and conceal within themselves our true wishes and desires. The dream reveals the true inner man, his various motives and desires, hidden from the view of others and often hidden from his own conscious thoughts. Consequently, when rightly interpreted, dreams are the real key to the riddle of human life, because through them the door is unlocked to our unconscious and our real selves. The unconscious is our true self, not our conscious thinking, with its rationalization of all our mental processes.—The Meaning of Dreams.

A Roman Dinner.

A Roman dinner at the house of a wealthy man consisted chiefly of three courses. All sorts of stimulants to the appetite were first served up, and eggs were indispensable to the first course. Among the various dishes we may instance the guinea hen, pheasant, nightingale and the thrush as birds most in repute. The Roman gourmands held peacocks in great estimation, especially their tongues. Macrobius states that they were first eaten by Hortensius, the orator, and acquired such repute that a single peacock was sold for 50 denarii, the denarius being equal to about eightpence halfpenny of English money.—Chambers' Journal.

An Eye Experiment.

The two eyes really see two objects. If the two forefingers be held, one at the distance of one foot and the other two feet, in front of the eyes and the former be looked at two phantoms of the latter will be observed, one on each side. If the latter figure be regarded two phantoms of the nearest finger will be observed mounting guard, one on either side.

Wise Women

Saving money is wisdom applied to practice—the cautious move that prevents poverty and dissipates fear as old creeps on. And women—keen of perception—accept the savings habit as a self-imposed task. That perhaps is why so many of our regular depositors are women—wise women—drawing 4 per cent interest per annum on their safely saved funds.

A Roman Dinner.
A Roman dinner at the house of a wealthy man consisted chiefly of three courses. All sorts of stimulants to the appetite were first served up, and eggs were laid on the first course. Among the various dishes we may imagine the gulfed hen, pheasant, nightingale and the thrush as birds most in repute. The Roman commands his peacocks in great estimation, especially their tongues. Macrobios states that they were first eaten by Horatius the orator, and accorded such reputation that a single peacock was sold for a denarius, the denarius being equal to about eightpence halfpenny of English money. (Chambers' Journal).

Much Better.

Robert Q. Mustard September 1, 1900. There were born to this union three children of whom two are living, Mary, aged 15 and Russell, aged 12.

The flower of the home, Leeland Howard, budded on earth but bloomed in heaven. He only waited seventeen months on the golden banks of sweet deliverance for mamma.

Beside the grief stricken husband and parents Mrs. Mustard leaves the two above mentioned children, three sisters, Mrs. Nellie Salisbury of Rarden, Ohio, Mrs. Mary Murphy of Portsmouth, Ohio, and little Bertha Wallace at home.

Three brothers, Orville and Summery Wallace, both of Portsmouth, Ohio, and Milton at home are left to mourn the loss of their beloved sister.

Three sisters have preceded her to the glory world. Two in infancy and Dora at the age of fifteen. There were a host of near relatives and friends to mourn the loss of a dear woman. Mrs. Mustard was baptized in the M. E. church when a small child and was tenderly brought up in the care and admonition of the Lord until at the age of fourteen she united with the Christian Union church. She has been a consistent christian all her life. She was a kind and loving mother. A true and faithful wife, a beloved sister and daughter and an honored and good neighbor.

Mrs. Mustard will not only be missed by her nearest and dearest ones at home but she will be missed by all who knew her.

PORTSMOUTH SOLDIER WRITES FROM PANAMA

Major Trick in receipt of an interesting letter from James C. Skidmore, sergeant of Company H, Twenty-seventh Infantry, a former Portsmouth man, stationed at Corral, Panama, Canal Zone.

Mr. Skidmore is bound for the Philippines for the third time. He has also seen foreign service in Hawaii. His regiment lost all of its property during the big storm that swept the coast of Texas in August, and in fact the entire division to which it was attached lost all its equipment. That there was not any heavy loss of life was due to the troops moving to higher ground when the storm approached. He expects to remain in Panama four or five months, or until such time as the slides are taken out of the canal and ships of heavy tonnage are once again enabled to pass through.

Skidmore notes that the big world war still finds itself in the Germans' favor, excepting on sea. He hopes that while the United States will always be prepared for war, that the president will keep the country out of the present conflict. For to the soldiers war is a serious thing.

The writer says that while he is greatly enjoying his stay in the tropical country, there is no place like the United States and he will always be found ready to go back to Kentucky, the land of his birth. The mayor has sent him a nice reply to his letter.

Brotherhood Plans For New Gymnasium

A large number of members enjoyed the social affair that followed the monthly business session of the German Evangelical Brotherhood held Tuesday evening in the new Sunday school building. Charles Daehler acted as toastmaster and called upon Albert Zoellner, Edward Gims, W. A. Meuns, Oscar Kah, Oscar Brunner, Rev. Samuel Lindemeyer and John Bauer who responded with short talks all along the line of brotherhood talk.

Charles Daehler, Albert Zoellner, Will Haebebeck and Rev. Lindemeyer were appointed as a committee to look after the installation of all equipment in the new gymnasium. The equipment is expected to arrive within the next few days.

The social committee Edward Gims, Albert Staiger, Will Blankenmeyer and Edward (Buck) Yeager were given a vote of thanks for the menu of good things served.

Maurice Coe Resigns Local Positions; Will Go With The State Accounting Bureau

M. A. Coe, secretary of Board of Trade and Business Men's Association, has tendered his resignation to the directors of these two organizations, effective December 1st.

On that date, or as soon after as possible, Mr. Coe will assume a responsible position with the State Bureau of Accounting, with permanent headquarters in Cincinnati, where he and his family will make their future home.

Confirmation of the above was made Wednesday by Mr. Coe himself, when asked by a Times man.

Mr. Coe was formerly connected with the State Bureau of Accounting, being out through a change in administration at Columbus. He was regarded as one of the most efficient men in the department, and only recently was delegated by Victor Donahay, auditor of state, to conduct a special audit of the books of the county auditor and clerk of the Board of County Commissioners in this county. His new position carries with it a substantial increase in salary over that of his present position.

In his position as secretary of Portsmouth's two leading civic organizations, Mr. Coe has made a splendid record, and his resignation was accepted with considerable reluctance by the directors. His administration has been characterized by the best of harmony and feeling among the membership of the two bodies.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Coe will regret to hear that they will move away from Portsmouth, but they will be pleased to hear of Mr. Coe's advancement in his chosen work.

A meeting of the directors of the Board of Trade and Business Men's Association will be held within the near future to select a successor to Mr. Coe.

ENFORCE NEW RULING CONCERNING TAXICABS

Chief B. E. Allen was on the job at the N. & W. depot Wednesday noon to enforce the new ruling prohibiting taxi-cabs from driving down Tenth street while the passenger trains are pulling in and out of the station. He informed all drivers that violation of the order would result in their arrest.

Persons who have been at the depot recently while trains were pulling in and out regard it almost miraculous that no serious injuries have occurred from the reckless driving of the taxi-cab drivers. The practice became so objectionable that the N. & W. officials called upon Mayor Frick for relief, and it was promptly furnished.

CORONATION EXERCISES IN JAPAN

Kioto, Japan, Nov. 10.—In Kioto the ancient capital of Japan, Yoshihito was consecrated emperor today.

For days the weather has been wet and gloomy. At the moment Yoshihito bowed down before the ancestral sun goddess today the rays of the sun flashed over the mountain dissipating the clouds. According to legend the sun goddess in prehistoric ages emerged from her rocky cave and filled the whole universe with glory. The appearance of the sun today is interpreted by the people of Japan as a good omen of an auspicious reign of Yoshihito and of the destiny of the Empire.

2 BILLION NEEDED BY BRITISH

"Peace Rumors Only Irritate"

FRENCH PREMIER

Paris, Nov. 10.—Aristide Briand, chief of the new war ministry of France, received the American newspaper correspondents in a body today, inviting them to ask questions or make requests relative to their work.

Asked regarding peace suggestions, he said: "What are these peace suggestions? They are heard first in one country and then another."

"They irritate at the present stage of war. I do not wish to consider them, even to the extent of a published denial and rejection. We can think of nothing but to drive forward to complete success by arms."

Speaking with much feeling, the premier added:

"Even to mention a peace by compromise or concession is to be untrue to those who are giving their lives at the front.

At another time when America was mentioned, M. Briand declared "the war has brought Americans much closer to us even than they were before. Frenchmen appreciate deeply the sympathy and good will of your countrymen. That, perhaps, is because every feeling is more intense now than in time of peace."

Galveston, Texas, Nov. 10.—It is reported here today that a vessel which is on fire in the Gulf 65 miles off Sabine Bar was abandoned early today when the American steamer, Gulf Stream, standing by, reported by wireless that the flames from the burning vessel were shooting high into the air and that she seemed certain of destruction. The crew had been taken off by the tug Russell, which is expected to land them here today. Maritime men here believe that the vessel alire is the steamer Livietta, 1,700 tons, of Genoa, which sailed yesterday from Port Arthur for Buenos Ayres with a cargo of case oil and gasoline. She carried a crew of 26.

GROWING PROSPERITY.

The daily newspaper correspondents and agencies reflect a growing and continuing prosperity which cannot be kept down. Their reports in themselves form the best of editorial refutation of the dwindling voices of the calamity howlers. Here is the recent development in Ohio:

"Continued improvement in business conditions is seen in the compilation of new corporations and of changes in capital stock of existing corporations authorized by the secretary of state. October compares favorably with some of the rush times.

"There were 187 new companies chartered during the month by the state. Their authorized capital was $5,791,000; increases to existing corporations were $8,973,700. This made the total gross capital $14,764,700. As reductions amounted to $2,072,500, the net increase in authorized capital was $12,692,200.

"Cleveland had 54 new companies, with $1,391,500 capital, and had increases of $1,267,700, but reductions of $1,304,000, making the net increase $1,265,200.

"Cincinnati had 15 new companies with $252,000 capital, but increases of $662,500 and reductions of $173,000, making the net increase $41,500.

"Columbus had 10 new companies with $541,000 new capital, and Toledo had 15 new companies, with $200,000. All other cities and villages had 93, with $3,406,500."

THE GERRYMANDER DEFEAT.

Some papers affect to see great political significance in the defeat of the Sprague gerrymander. As we said before the election, we believe it was largely a local matter with communities, some counties wanting to be shifted and some vigorously objecting to being shunted around every change of the moon. On the vote in Scioto county, if it had been viewed as purely a political measure, as the elections here went, the gerrymander would have carried by some 1,500 or 1,800 instead of 400. The conviction that Scioto would be of more consequence in the Sixth district than in the Tenth caused many Republicans to vote against the Sprague bill, and that was all there was to it. The Democrats voted against the bill because they felt the old apportionment was fairer and that it increased the consequence of this county.

And we firmly believe that by the time the next apportionment is made Scioto will be found unanimously in favor of the new district as against all changes proposed.

The former head of the Ohio Agricultural Commission is again a newspaper editor, and a good one. Also he is a good observer and knows what he is talking about when referring to the State Board of Agriculture. Read what he says in the Putnam County Sentinel (Put Sandles, of course) under head of "Buying Boosts at State Expense".

"Ohio pays big price for posies. Money is piled out of the state treasury. It's politics. Public officials who fail to earn complimentary mention in the newspapers often arrange to buy and pay for same. The American Agriculturist has worked overtime trying to excuse the Ohio State Board's failure in conduct of state fair matters. Records in state auditor's office show $434, charged by this paper for state fair advertising, or $250 more than last year, without bouquets. Political Posies come high."

Some cheerful sort of people living down around Danville, Kentucky. They had a revival in progress in one of the city churches and some individuals who did not like the brand of religion being handed out, left a sack of apples on the door step anticipating that there would be a rush for them when services were over. The rush came all right but the first man to take a bite noticed a peculiar taste to his apple. Examination showed that the apples had been doctored with paris green and that there was enough to have killed a mule in each apple. We wonder just exactly what sort of a disposition the person who would perpetrate a trick like that, could have.

With all the wirelessing there is going on in Europe right now we wonder that there has not been some good news from the stock of that famous London Wireless Company which disposed of its stock in Portsmouth in such a free and lavish manner a few years ago. The men back of it had a real pretty machine and they certainly made the blue fire sizzle and hum on the opera house stage. It was all so realistic that we remember seeing a large number of our prominent retired capitalists breaking their necks, as we say down here in Slabtown, to get their names down for stock. We suppose that they have just laid it away for a rainy day like we have done with our pretty shares of Ragland Oil stock.

State Fire Marshal Buckley says that the burning of leaves and rubbish inside village or city limits should be discouraged as flying sparks and embers may cause a serious fire. Burning leaves on asphalt or tar bound pavements damage them seriously.

Certain doings on January First, 1916, will disclose to an anxious world whether Uncle Billy Gims was only popular to the extent of 93 votes in the Republican primary or whether he bid the balance of his popularity in Mr. Kaps' back yard.

JOHN'S TURN.

DOWN THE SCIO.

(Columbus Ohio State Journal.)

From Columbus down to the Ohio river, the Scioto Valley is about the finest country in the world—the home of prosperity, intelligence and joy. A little farm in that valley is near the height of an earthly acquisition. The plenty down there amounts to luxury. In front of a country church last Sunday afternoon, the automobiles were packed as thick as they are in front of Memorial Hall on a fair day. And not little second-hand roadsters, either, that rattle as they run; but large, capacious, shiny cars, that transport all the family in style and comfort along the level turnpikes. It almost makes a city fellow disatisfied with his lot. We cannot imagine a hopper destiny for a young man than to go down there and marry one of these old farmers' daughters—"if he kin," as Josh Billings says.

If you have posies dear friends, prepare to scatter them over the buried political hopes of Druggist Dan Thomas. Dan, as the originalet Kaps man, may have thought that the position of director of public safety was his for the asking, but alas, it is not to be. From a perfectly reliable and trustworthy and confidential source, we are informed that Young Doc Sellards is already preparing to move down to the safety office on January First. We are told that this time Young Doc has taken pains to see that he is not left out in the cold and cruel world so shy of political clothes, that, as Irve Cobb would say, he looked like the father of September Morn, as happened to him after his dear friend Frank B. W. went into the governor's office.

P. S. Young Doc escorted our new mayor up to Columbus Tuesday to shake the hand of Burton.

And so we were mistaken in hinting that there was a little feeling between the Mayor and Mr. Brennan. That which we thought were sledge-hammer blows meant to disgrace and destroy were only little love pecks and didn't mean anything at all. To get in good all around we will apologize for not being able to differentiate between a blow and a love tap. Bring up the peace wagon. We're ready too for a ride.

A little bird whispereth the news that Henry Ruel, the man who built the bridges, is going to sweep the streets after January First. 'Twill be a fine appointment, we must say that, but say, what about Moore and his divine rights and perquisites? Why Moore is even negotiating for Flannigan's outfit. Has he gotten the wires crossed somehow?

Worse and more of it. Though the state agricultural bureau is making all possible efforts to prevent it from becoming public, the fact is established that the last state fair was run at a loss somewhere around sixty thousand dollars. Fifty thousand free passes, issued almost solely to big and small fry politicians figured in producing the deficit.

Glancing over some campaign literature, which the events of November 2nd have already made ancient, we notice candidates seem to think it will make them voters to announce they have never before been such. Our guess is they would get more if the announcement was made they would never be again.

Of course Marion is proud she is the abiding place of such a brilliant senator as Warren Harding and that is why she went gaily back to her Democratic moorings—just wanted to show she played no favorites.

Still, we cannot help wondering as to just where the sudden and insistent demand for the presence at Columbus of the Hon. Charles E. Hard and the Hon. John Eckhart leaves the Hon. Henry T. Bannan and his cohorts. Have their "pitchers" been turned towards the wall since the late city unpleasantness?

Still another pathetic little feature of everyday life is the way a lot of carnal-minded old coots that have contrived in one way or another to get other people's money away from them will look supremely self-righteous when the home paper has an editorial announcing that merit alone wins success.—Ohio State Journal.

The weather clerk is certainly with us. The contractors have promised to have the Scioto bridge and the Scioto Trail open for traffic at a date fixed within a week. The elements are doing their part. And when these thoroughfares are actually opened it will feel like waking from a horrible nightmare.

It is not to be denied that that husband of Helen Zimmerman, erstwhile of Cincinnati, is a real duke. For the second time he is declared a bankrupt and his liabilities reach the royal proportion of a million, while his plebeian assets are no larger than a thousand.

One of these sociologists said the other day that if there were work for every man there would be no evil in the world—as if some people and they not a few, would work to keep themselves out of wickedness. And all sin is not committed by the idle, not by any means.

Gossip is tirelessly on the job everywhere. Every time President Wilson goes automobiling with Mrs. Galt or she wears some gift from him the wires begin to chatter the story, just like the prattle we hear in this man's town, and it is not woman doing all the prattling either.

This world is just full of contrary mortals. When the French cabinet called for a vote of confidence, one member of the assembly was smart enough to vote no, but 525 other voted aye.

Good times, even though they do be Democratic times—are here for a fact.

Down in the alleged Queen City hatchets are sharpening for our good young Governor, according to whispers that are going about. May be some fellows can see the folly of voting one way first and then talking the other afterwards.

The Cincinnati fellows are laying that shrinkage in the anti-majority to one William J., who is just modest enough to admit it.

The next thing we may look to with eager anticipation is the putting in operation of the first interurban in and out of the Peerless.

England is so shocked because President Wilson sent her that last note. Good practice—she seems to be in a fair way for worse.

A Delaware chicken thief was mildly punished the other day. He got five years in the work house, $200 fine and twenty lashes at the whipping post.

The Norfolk & Western shops have been with us now for thirteen years. And yet the superstitious will insist there is ill luck in the number.

West Virginia is still worrying about that debt to Virginia she vows she will never pay. Then why not let the other fellow do the worrying?

It is an easy guess that with over six thousand votes cast the Peerless has over 30,000 people.

The school children of Portsmouth deposited $400 in savings in two weeks, and yet the penny is universally despised.

Bill Sulzer says Teddy Roosevelt is a corpse. Bill ought to know, he is some corpse himself in the political business.

NEW-YORK-DAY-BY-DAY.
O-O-MEINTYRE.

New York, Nov. 10.—Harry Thaw made a hasty visit to Broadway last week but was very careful not to visit the gilded cafes. Surrounded by a group of detectives he spent most of his time in the shadows of the Waldorf. One was suggested that he come to town to give Lieutenant Fay, involved in the bomb plot, a dress rehearsal in the way to change lawyers and issue statements.

This, however, proved untrue. He came to New York to point out to citizens their civic duty in voting on the constitution and having done that, he returned to Squirrel hill, his Pittsburgh home.

"Unless the new Constitution is defeated," said Mr. Thaw, "for twenty years the voice of the people will be stifled." Mr. Thaw's record as a champion of the people and as a worker for the public welfare decided many. They voted "Yes."

Psychist Hyslop announced the other day that he had been in communication with W. T. Stead, who was lost on the Titanic, and that the deceased said he had a great fondness for watercress.

Grantland Rice, the sporting writer, always thought that if a really great man "came back" he would give out inside information concerning some momentous question like that, so he was not disappointed.

Remond Wolf is telling about the Kiallo that J. Fred Zimmerman, Jr., read so much of the benefits of Twilight Sleep that he has been retiring every evening lately at sundown, but can't as yet notice any particular results.

Louis H. Chalif, the dancer, changed to be in Erie the night that city was engulfed in the flood. The next morning, as he came down to breakfast at his hotel, he met the housekeeper.

"Have you seen the flood sir?" the woman asked.

"Yes," replied Chalif, adding by way of conversation, "it reminds one of the flood of Noah's time, doesn't it?"

"I can't say, sir," answered the housekeeper. "I don't have time to read the papers any more."

Bert Leslie has found a new cry for the subway guards. He lost several packages of merchandise while riding up-town the other night and says the guards should change their cry of "Watch your step!" to "Watch your stuff!"

There is to be a production of "Treasure Island" shortly at a Broadway theatre, and the press agent advertised for a genuine pirate to take part in the play. It is reported that he received 20 applications from members of the Hat Checker's Union.

Automobiles killed forty-three persons in the streets of the city last month. Twenty-seven of the victims were children. The total shows an increase of eighteen over the record for the same month last year. The biggest part of the increase appears in the borough of Manhattan. So accustomed has the public become to progressive frequency of motor car killings that even an average of nearly two for every working day will startle it only for a moment.

The Police Department has undertaken a special study of street accidents and the average New Yorker will be pleased to know that so far all it can do is to recommend him to "look out."

Wholesome advice but it requires a lot of quick-thinking.

Life
I sit all alone, by the fireside.
And gaze on this ocean of life,
I wonder if its worth the struggle
Of pain, and toil, and strife.

But it's a shame to murmur,
For no matter where we
Some one else has sorrow far greater,
And harder to bear than our own.

So let's brace up! and be happy!
No matter what are our lot,
There is sunshine and brightness
tomorrow,
With all our troubles forgot.

Let's always be bright and cheerful,
Reach a hand that is gentle and kind
To those who have troubles far greater,
And let them to leave it be hind.

For while we are helping our brother,
Our own sorrow all is forgot.
So go help your sister in trouble,
And see how it will brighten your lot.

For in doing kindness to others
It brightens our own pathway;
So let's forget all our own troubles,
And help some one on the way.

For no matter which way you travel,
There is some one in help and need,
So try and help the fallen,
And heal a heart that would bleed.

For there is never a pathway so lonely
And never a way so dark,
But what the bright sun is trying
To make you a beautiful spark.

So brother and sister look upward!
Take a hand, reached out to you;
And remember God's love is shining through.

Why not let Him brighten your pathway all life through.

The Glory That Is Gallipolis
(Chicago Tribune)
Sir: Your correspondent did not rise to the full measure of his opportunity in referring to the blessed little city of Gallipolis, O., as being near Palestine and Athens. The atlas shows it is to be within forty miles of Arabia, Venus, Jerusalem, Waterloo, Baden, Liverpool, Geneva and Carthage.
Some little center of historical and geographical interest, what!

Pat and His Horse
An Irish horse owner whose horse had been prescribed for by a veterinary surgeon ran into the latter's office and, with tears in his eyes and on his face the "picture of bad luck," cried: "Oh, Mr.
Morris, I'm poorly. The powder kilt me entirely!"

"The powder?" cried Mr. Morris. "Why, I didn't tell you to take the powder. I told you to place it in a paper tube and put one end in the horse's mouth and blow hard."

"Yes, sir," cried Pat. "I put the powder in the tube, and I put the end of it in the horse's mouth, with the other end in my own, but, begorra, he blew first."

Saving in the Home.
Is systematic saving the secret of a successful housekeeper. Not stinting or denying, but practical, regular saving. Five or 10 cents put carefully away regularly soon means $3 or $4 with which to buy some household necessity, perhaps luxury, and money saved in this way is never missed. Money saving is a habit, once formed hard to break, and means comfort and contentment to the housekeeper who will acquire it. —San Francisco Chronicle.

THE MARKETS

NEW YORK STOCKS

New York, Nov. 10.—A broad demand for investment stocks and early weakness in specialties which was largely overcome later, were the outstanding features of today's busy session.

Selling of specialties was resumed at today's opening with Studebaker the feature on its decline of 5/8 to 145. Baldwin locomotive, Westinghouse, Allis Chalmers, Continental Can and National Enameling comprised the other weak features of that group and coppers also manifested a heavy tendency. U. S. Steel sold 3/4 down to 83 1/2 at the outset, subsequently recovering a point. Bethlehem Steel dropped 25 to 410. Atchafalaya dropped 1 to 106 1/2 and other standard rails yielded to below yesterday's lowest quotations. Most of the declines were registered later.

Bethlehem Steel's further decline to 405, from which it rallied to 420, was attributed to the fire at the company's principal plant. The balance of the list scored additional gains on the strength of United States Steel, the Pacifics and Reading, which advanced 1 to 2 points. Steel's strength anticipated the publication of the October tonnage statement at mid-day. War shares continued to reflect liquidation, with special weakness in Crucible Steel and Continental Can. Porto Rico sugar's decline of 17 to 110 was another feature. Bonds were steady.

Substantial gains in railways, particularly Southern Pacific and Canadian Pacific and Steel's advance to 87 1/2 characterized the final dealings. The closing was strong.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS

Chicago, Nov. 10.—Predictions of snow and cold and rain had a bullish effect today on wheat. Traders who profess to believe that the maximum of the spring crop movement had been reached were conspicuous buyers. Advancing prices at Liverpool tended to handicap the bears. After opening 1/2 and 1/4 to 3/8 and 1/2 higher, with December at 10 1/2 to 10 3/4 and May at 10 1/4 to 10 1/2, the market here scored a material further upturn. A setback took place later, influenced by weakness in the stock market and by reports that some European purchases of Manitoba wheat had been cancelled. On the break, however, offerings here dried up and prices rebounded strongly. The close was unsettled 1 1/2 to 1 3/8 cents net higher, with December at 10 1/2 to 10 3/4 and May at 10 1/4 to 10 1/2. Corn like wheat, felt the influence of the unsettled weather. The opening which ranged from 1/4 and 3/8 to 1/2 and 3/4 advance, was followed by moderate additional gains. Subsequently, absence of selling pressure led to a continued ascent in values. The close was firm, 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 and 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 above yesterday's finish. Firmness developed in oats as a result of the strength of other cereals. Business, however, was light. Lower prices on hogs weakened provisions. Arrivals of hogs throughout the west were remarkably numerous compared with the corresponding time either last week or a year ago.

some employees had to make their escape by means of ropes from the different floors.

From workmen it was learned that the fire started among oil near the entrance to the plant. This oil flows in conduits and is used to gather up flying chips which escape in the operating of gun boring. There was only a spark of fire at first which workmen started to put out by throwing on water. Then followed a mighty flash and flames as high as the structure which seemed to envelope the whole building.

Several alarms were sounded, not only in the steel works, but throughout the boroughs of South Bethlehem, Bethlehem, Fountain Hill and Northampton Heights. In a short time East Third street was thronged with fire engines, which pumped water onto the burning building.

The fire started on the south side of the building and soon ate its way through the structure to the north side. Floor after floor loaded down with machinery collapsed and fell to the first floor, where it lay in a jumbled mass. As far as known, there was no loss of life. The fire will probably burn all day.

Many of the employees are heavy losers, as they lost all their tools, several having as much as $100 worth in the building. Recently the burned building was built and equipped at a cost said to be three million dollars. It was given over to the manufacture of guns of various calibers for the United States, England and her allies, and some 900 of these guns were in process of manufacture when the fire broke out. The fire is said to have resulted from a spark from an electric light lamp which exploded, falling into a pool of oil.

The fire which virtually destroyed the number four machine shop of the Bethlehem Steel company here today was finally extinguished this afternoon after causing damage estimated from $3,000,000 to $4,000,000.

The company issued a statement that the fire was due to a crossed electric light wire circuit which ignited oil in the boring mill.

the affair through the embassy at Rome.

Department officials said they had made no request of American Ambassador Page or of any consular officers. They explained that as a matter of duty to the nearest American consular officer to Bizerta would make a report especially if American lives were lost.

Don B. Mason, consul at Algeria, Algiers, about 300 miles east of Bizerta is the nearest American officer. He probably will go to Bizerta to make an investigation should he learn that American lives were lost.

New York, N. Y., Nov. 10.—The Ancona, according to the local agents, was scheduled to sail from Naples yesterday, after leaving Naples the steamer would pass through the Tyrrhenian Sea, and enter the Mediterranean between Sicily and Sardinia. The meagre dispatches indicate that the Ancona was sunk within the comparatively small triangle, the points of which are the Southern end of Sardinia, the western end of Sicily and Bizerta, Tunis. The Austrian submarine reported to have torpedoed and sunk the Ancona, it was thought here, probably was lying in wait for the Ancona at or near the entrance to the Malta channel, which is a narrow strip of the Mediterranean between Sicily and the coast of Africa. Austrian and German submarines have been active in this region of late, according to reliable reports.

War vessels and transports of the allies, enroute to the scene of operations at the Dardanelles, as well as forces sent to Saloniki, all passed through the Malta channel. As soon as the local agents learned of the sinking they cabled the home office at Naples for a complete passenger list.

At present nothing is known here concerning the personnel of the passengers, but Mr. Sabari thought the number of first cabin passengers—eighty-three—as given in a cable report today, was too high. He said the Ancona had accommodations for only 50 first class passengers. On the last voyage, through Ambassadors' three trips from Naples to New Bedford at Vienna and Page at New Bedford, official information from the Austrian and the Italian governments.

Until such data is received, no formal action probably will be taken. Meanwhile officials would make no comment.

The first report of the sinking of the Ancona said there were 122 passengers and 90 members of the crew on board. According to a previous dispatch, the number of passengers was 122, which, with a crew of 90, would give a total of 212.

Chase had been one of the Ancona's crew, but he was not on board. Chase was the northeastern extreme of Italy, about 20 miles east of Bizerta, where according to dispatches last night, 122 survivors were landed. This means a total of 122 survivors if it is far associated.

Secretary Lansing indicated the United States would await for a reasonable time an official report on the sinking of the Ancona, but that if official word is not received within a reasonable time the department will inquire into the matter.

PRESIDENT CALLS
CABINET MEETING;
HE ALSO DISCUSSES
THE MONEY QUESTION

Washington, Nov. 10.—President Wilson will begin work next week on his message to congress. He has called a cabinet meeting for next Friday or the following Tuesday—the first held since last July—at which outlines of the work of the government departments and the estimates for the coming year will be discussed and the president will lay the basis for his address to congress, which, according to his custom, probably will be delivered in person before a joint assembly of both houses. Next week the president will confer with the congressional budget committee which is working on plans for co-ordinating the government's appropriations and will discuss particularly plans for financing the new scheme of national defense.

The legislative program and ways of raising money were discussed by the president today with Senators Underwood and Pomeroy.

Mr. Underwood said that he did not see how a bond issue would provide for increased army and navy appropriations since the increase was to be permanent.

The taxes will have to be increased," he said. "If the people want a larger army and navy they will have to pay for it. Generally speaking changing the tariff will not meet the situation because the imports have been cut down by the war. Of course the tariff on sugar can be retained but whether this will be done I do not know."

Representative Kitchin who succeeds Mr. Underwood as majority leader in the house and who recently told the president that he could not support the national defense program frankly admitted in a statement today that a majority of his constituents were in favor of the president's position on preparedness.

Representative Kitchin left for his home to begin a campaign to convince his constituents that he was right and the president was wrong.

GARMENT WORKERS
MARCH TO COURT

Chicago, Nov. 10.—Eight hundred defendants in cases growing out of the garment workers' strike, half of them women, formed in line at Federal court house, on the west side, to march to parade had been obtained, the police forced the marchers to keep to the sidewalks. They nearly monopolized these on the streets through which they passed.

There are eleven hundred charges against the defendants, some of whom have been arrested two or three times.

I am a candidate for re-nomination for governor and I think that the arrangement made a few days ago in which Mr. Burton and Senator Harding participated will lead to further advancement of the Republican cause in this state."

"Senator Burton will go before the Republican national convention with the endorsement of the Ohio delegation and the prestige of his state solidly behind him."

U. S. COUNSELLOR
LEAVES BRUSSELS
"NOT TO RETURN"

Washington, Nov. 10.—M. Deleval, a Belgian, employed by the United States as counsellor to the legation at Brussels, has left Belgium and will not return to his post because Germany has given notice that he is persona non grata. The state department will not admit that Deleval has been removed but announced today that he had left Belgium and will not return.

Deleval's report to Minister Whitlock on steps he had taken in behalf of Miss Cavell expressed surprise at finding that "lawyers" in the defending prisoners before the German military courts were not allowed to see their clients before the trial and were not shown any documents of the prosecution.

It also expressed surprise that the American legation had not been advised by the German authorities or by the man who defended Miss Cavell, regarding the trial and sentence and "extreme surprise" when told by a private informer that she had been sentenced. He also reported that Mr. Conrad, the official in charge of Germany's political division in Belgium had been asked to inform the American legation immediately after the passing of the judgment in Miss Cavell's case, and that Conrad failed to do so.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, O. Office Phone 60.

Haldeman, Ky.—Miss Dolly Wise.—If I send you a stamped envelope will you answer direct to me?
A. B. C.

Dear Miss Wise.—Is it true that the average longevity of the human race has increased during the last century? Are there more centenarians now than there were 100 years ago?
A READER.

We have the positive assurance of eminent physicians and students of hygiene that, according to careful statistics, it is an established fact that the average of human longevity has gained from eight to ten years in the last fifty or sixty years. It could hardly be otherwise under the improved conditions which prevail in cities and in private homes and the marvelous achievements of medical and surgical science we hear of daily.

Dear Dolly.—What would you do with a boy when you tell him you do not want to go with him and when I am on the street and he sees me he always walks home with me when he is not wanted.
BLANCH.

If you tell him in plain English that he is not wanted, I think he'll understand you. If you act like you don't want him and at the same time permit him to "tag" along naturally he thinks you are glad to have him. I don't know anything about the man in the shoe shine parlor.

Dear Miss Wise.—I accidentally put on a ring that is too small for me the other day and now I can't get it off. My finger seems to have swollen around it. Can you suggest a way of getting it off other than filing. I don't want to ruin the ring.
EDNA.

Wet the joint with cold water and rub on a paste made of soap. If this fails, take a coarse thread or a piece of fine string and beginning at the end of the finger wind it with the coils close together until the ring is reached; slip the end of the string under the ring and begin to unwind it as it progresses, the string will carry the ring with it.

Middletown, Ohio.—Dear Dolly.—That "Lonesome Boy" that sent his question in last week seems to have girls on the brain, as he has as many as three new girls a week. Please tell me how to keep him at home. I would like to have him myself for awhile.

A WIDOW.
So long as he has three or four new girls a week you need not worry about him getting married. I would rather have him associate with nice girls than with bad boys, if I were you.

Dear Miss Wise.—I would like to know how to use eggs on the hair. Do you use the whites or yellows, or both. Any information along this line will be greatly appreciated.
DORIS.

Break one or two eggs, separating the whites and yolks, putting them in two separate cups. Add two teaspoonfuls of salt to the yolks, mix well, then fill the cup with hot water. Shampoo the hair good with this. Rinse the hair well through about four waters. Then take the whites and after beating them (not stiff, but well) add them to the last rinsing water. Be sure that the last water isn't too hot or it will cook the egg whites. This is especially good for blondes.

Dear Miss Wise.—In giving a person a letter of introduction to a friend should it be sealed?

WANT-TO-KNOW.
No, such letters are never sealed. It is a courtesy due the bearer that he or she may know what the letter contains.

Dear Miss Wise.—Do you know of a nice powder that can be used on the body?
LOUISE.

SOCIETY

Mrs. Ada Young Plummer and Mr. John Dudley Parker were married this afternoon, at 2 o'clock, at the home of the bride's aunts, Mrs. Chris Young and Miss Grace Young, on the corner of Third and Gay streets. Rev. J. W. Dunning, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiated in the presence of the immediate relatives. The fair blonde bride wore a suit of blue, hat of the same becoming color, and beautiful blue chiffon veil. The happy couple left on the afternoon train for a ten days' trip, after which they will keep house in an apartment over Freund's drug store. The bride has many friends who will wish her well. The groom is currently serving as motorman on the Hilltop street car line.

The groom is a first cousin of the bride's first husband, Mr. Bruce Plummer.

The Duckery Kensington Club was delightfully entertained this afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. J. Rawlin, on Waller street. The rooms were beautifully decorated with autumn leaves. The afternoon's diversion was needlework, after which delicious refreshments were served.

Mrs. W. S. Walker entertained at twelve o'clock luncheon today the members of a small club of which she is a member. Covers were laid for Mesdames J. M. Graham, C. T. Walker, R. B. Cunningham and W. S. Walker. The afternoon was spent in needlework.

Mrs. Josephine Murfin, of Ann Arbor, Mich., arrived last evening to visit her sister, Mrs. James W. Bannan, Sr.

The Bathing Class of the Fourth Street Methodist church met last evening at the home of Mrs. Louis Clausen, where there were sixteen present. An election of officers resulted as follows:

President—Mrs. Louis Clausen.
Vice-President—Mrs. Mary Koger.
Secretary—Miss Martha Cook.
Assistant Secretary—Miss Emma Fritz.

Treasurer—Miss Carrie Griver.
Mercy and Help Committee—Mrs. F. L. Marting, Mrs. Anna Griver and Mrs. Edson Tener.

Plans were made to make money for the new church. A bazaar sale will be held the second Saturday in December at Marting's store.

A Message To Women

Those of Middle Age Especially.

When you have found no remedy for the horrors that oppress you during change of life, when through the long hours of the day it seems as though your back would break, when your head aches constantly, you are nervous, depressed and suffer from those dreadful bearing down pains, don't forget that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the safest and surest remedy, and has carried hundreds of women safely through this critical period.

Read what these three women say:

From Mrs. Hornung, Buffalo, N. Y.

BUFFALO, N. Y.—"I am writing to let you know how much your medicine has done for me. I failed terribly during the last winter and summer and every one remarked about my appearance. I suffered from a female trouble and always had pains in my back, no appetite and at times was very weak."

"I was visiting at a friend's house one day and she thought I needed Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it and have gained eight pounds, have a good appetite and am feeling better every day. Everybody is asking me what I am doing and I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. You may publish this letter if you wish and I hope others who have the same complaint will see it and get health from your medicine as I did."—Mrs. A. Houshous, 21 Stanton St., Buffalo, N. Y.

Made Me Well and Strong.

MACEDON, N. Y.—"I was all run down and very thin in flesh, nervous, no appetite, could not sleep and was weak, and felt badly all the time. The doctors said I had poor blood and what I had was turning to water. I took different medicines which did not help me, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made me well and strong, and I am recommending it to my friends."—Mrs. Fern CHASE, R. No. 2, Macedon, N. Y.

The Change of Life.

BELLEVILLE, Mo.—"By the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I have successfully passed through a most trying time, the Change of Life. I suffered with a weakness, and had to stay in bed three days at a time. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored me to perfect health, and I am praising it for the benefit of other women who suffer as I did."—Mrs. W. S. Duvall, Route No. 1, Belleville, Mo.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No one sick with woman's ailments does justice to herself if she does not try this famous medicine made from roots and herbs. It has restored so many suffering women to health.

Talk Of Lexington Going Into Central

Lexington, Ky., Nov. 10.—When asked today if Lexington would seek admittance to the Central league next season, President C. F. Brewer said it is too early to talk about that.

"First we must have some assurance from the fans that Lexington will give proper support to a baseball club," said he. The Lexington club this year broke a little less than even. Had they not sold Park and had not Blackwell been drafted they would have been considerably in the hole. The local club for several years has been backed by three or four men, and those now in possession of the franchise are not very sweet on their proposition.

LEANSE THE BLOOD BEFORE WINTER

Free yourself from the menace of bad health when the cold and wet sets in. Sufferers from Catarrh, Rheumatism, and Eczema are worse in winter. Take S. S. S. now.

Advice of this character has been given by our trained specialists year after year as summer began to wane and the coming of Fall heralded the time when storms and cold are near. We repeat this warning now. Sufferers from Catarrh will undoubtedly find the symptoms much aggravated as Winter approaches. With the first chill blasts the Rheumatism lets itself be felt. There are signs of winter Eczema—one in particular—called "Tetter" that causes a suffering when cold weather comes. The more aches and pains of Rheumatism not only change in winter, but the changes are apt to be so decided in their violence as to cause the most intense suffering. Horrible aching pains in the limbs, in the back, in the joints, even rheumatic pains in the head and face sometimes appear to be neuralgia. Catarrh is back again, more intense than last winter with the continual hawking and spitting, headaches, dripping of the nose and throat, the clogged air passages and the food lodges in the throat. Is it not a common-sense thing to do to avoid these troubles, to eradicate them from the system when it can be so easily done with a positive remedy such as S. S. S.? Remember, first of all, that the troubles we mention are blood troubles—deeper-seated ones. Laugh at the man who recommends lotions, salves and local medicines. The trouble must be washed out of the blood. Thousands of people have been permanently relieved of blood and skin diseases of every kind by the use of S. S. S., and many of those who, perhaps, at first did not find the results entirely satisfactory, wrote our physicians a full statement of their case, and a little advice hastened the relief. The only reason for wanting you to write us is that we may use every effort to see that you get the best result from the medicine. You can then help us by advising your friends to use S. S. S., which you will know from experience is all we claim for it. You can write with the assurance that all correspondence is held in strictest confidence, and that our physicians will give you helpful advice without charge. For sale at all drug stores. Refuse substitutes. Write The Swift Specific Company, Medical Department, Room 14, Atlanta, Ga.

NEW LOCOMOTIVE BEING MANUFACTURED IN IRONTON

A new and modern storage battery locomotive to be used extensively in coal fields will be completed in a few days by The Ironton Engine Company. The engine is similar to other small ones in use in mines but is made up different and has more power. The engine is run by its own storage battery, dispensing with the trolley pole. The new engine is a great improvement over the old type. The Engine Company should be prominent among those who are to manufacture the new engines and will help Industrial Ironton greatly.

SAGE AND SULPHUR DARKENS GRAY HAIR

Brush this through faded, lifeless locks and they become dark, glossy, youthful.

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmothers made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep their locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. Besides, it takes off dandruff, stops scalp itching and falling hair. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking care to saturate the scalp. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.

Corn Growers To Make Trip; Poor Girls Must Stay Home

Ohio girls who won prizes in domestic science contests throughout the state during the past few months will not get to go to Columbus for a week's special training in the department of domestic science at Ohio State university.

The legislature appropriated $8,000 for junior contest work, and it was supposed that these girls would get their share of it. Last year nearly every county was represented when about 100 girls went at the state's expense to the university. This year none will go.

The word has just been given out that the state board of agriculture will need all the money to finance the excursion to Washington, and to pay part of the cost of bringing champion corn-growers to the state fair.

ENTERS STRONG DENIAL

Looking For Man Who Wrecked Buggy

G. Wash Williams, of the Scioto Trail, was in the city Tuesday, trying to locate the autoist who on November 1st ran into his horse and buggy, upsetting the outfit on the side of a ravine near the Horns greenhouse. The horse was badly bruised and it cost $13 to repair the buggy. The man handed Mr. Williams a card containing the name Burdette Delos Carleton, and said he lived at 1426 Gallia street, asking that he call around there and he would settle for the damages. When he visited that section he found that number to be that of a coal shed and no one in the neighborhood knew of any such person. The mayor promised Mr. Williams to have police assist him in establishing the identity of the machine owner.

Time Treatment in Tuberculosis

In the May 25, 1912, issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association appeared this statement concerning calcium (lime) medication in the treatment of pulmonary tuberculosis (consumption): "Under the systematic, continued and persistent regime of calcium assimilation, Van Gieson has seen a number of his patients improve, undergo an exudation or partial collection in the lung, which then resolving would appear to contribute to the healing and closure of the lesions. Hand in hand with this course of events, the appetite clears up, the tubercle bacilli, which usually disappear, and the patients are discharged with healed pulmonary tuberculosis."

Since calcium is a constituent of this remedy for pulmonary tuberculosis, its healing power may in some measure be attributed to the manner in which this element is so combined with other ingredients as to be easily assimilated by the average person and it does not irritate the stomach.

CHAS. F. KEHRER, COLLECTOR FOR THE DISTEL FURNITURE CO. SPEAKS OUT

Still another and another, of Portsmouth's business people are coming out publicly in praise of the "Master Medicine". The well known character of those who are recommending Tanlac, precludes the shadow of a doubt, but in so doing they are actually only by the best motives, that desire to help others.

"Tanlac has greatly benefited me," says Mr. Kehrer. "When I first began to take Tanlac I was suffering from stomach disorders, nervousness and sleeplessness. The effect of this medicine has been, that I am relieved of the indigestion, and enjoy sound sleep. I heartily recommend Tanlac."

In the every day hum-drum of things one frequently hears the assertion made, that some individual is a person without a spark of ambition, such assertions being made in an uncharitable spirit, with the attempt to convey the impression that the trouble is in the mental make-up of the victim.

Tanlac is called the "Master Medicine", and is now on sale in Portsmouth at the Fisher & Streich Pharmacy, corner Sixth and Chillicothe Sts., which corner has become known as the Tanlac corner.

MRS. EVANS BELIEVES GOD IS PUNISHING HER

Says She Idolized Her Daughter And Forgot All Else; Tells A Sad Story

Lou D. Smith, the Ironton furniture man, whose alleged relations with Della Evans, a young stenographer of this city, led to his arrest last Sunday and subsequent imprisonment, was released from the county jail Tuesday evening about 8 o'clock on $300 bond, furnished by his brother-in-law, Larkin Covert, of this city.

Smith was bound over to the grand jury under bond of $2000, but Judge Stephenson reduced the bond to $300 after he had been placed in the county jail, the bond having been placed too high for the offense charged, according to the court. Smith returned to Ironton Tuesday night, a friend coming after him in an automobile.

The charge of white slavery was not placed against Smith in this city, but it is understood that the attorneys for Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Evans will press those charges against him before the United States Commissioner at Ironton. Mr. Evans went to Ironton for that purpose Tuesday noon.

Mrs. Evans to whom lot it fell to become Smith's Nemesis rattled the family skeleton in describing to Mayor Adam Frick, Tuesday, the events leading up to her daughter's downfall.

The broken hearted mother was the picture of distress as she passionately expressed the belief that she was the victim of retribution. "The first six years of my married life I begrudged others their children, whether it was because we didn't care for children or could not have any I could not say, but when this little

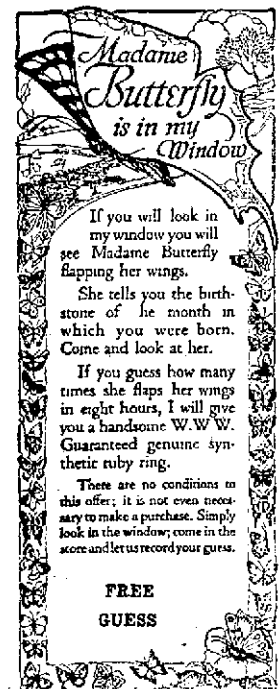

WHAT TO DO FOR ITCHING SKINS

Eczema, ringworm and other itching, burning skin eruptions are so easily made worse by improper treatment that one has to be very careful. There is one method, however, that you need not hesitate to use, even on a baby's tender skin—that is, the Resinol treatment. Resinol is the prescription of a Baltimore doctor, put up in the form of a resinol ointment and resinol soap. This proved so remarkably successful that thousands of other physicians have been prescribing it constantly for 20 years. Resinol always heals the eruption quickly and at little cost. Resinol ointment and resinol soap can be bought at any drugist's.

CLEARs BLOTCHY SKIN

Try Resinol soap for a week. You will be surprised to see how it clears and freshens your complexion, even in that short time. Used for the shampoo, it removes dirt and keeps the skin clear, bright and lustrous. This is because it contains the soothing, healing Resinol medication.

RELIEVES THE WORST CASES OF CATARRH

Think "Hymel the Most Wonderful Treatment for Catarrh Ever Discovered."

Do not try to cure catarrh by using sprays or lotions. It cannot be cured in that manner. The only way in which this too common disease can be fully relieved is through a direct application of the affected parts that will kill the bacilli of catarrh and prevent their growth. Breathing the air of Hymel is the only known method of treatment that can really accomplish this. It is the simplest, most pleasant and probably the most reliable treatment for catarrh that has ever been discovered.

Numerous unsolicited testimonials have been received from prominent men and women who have been helped by this remarkable remedy. Ministers, bankers, lawyers, even emperors, physicians have given strong testimony as to the power of Hymel.

The complete Hymel outfit is inexpensive and consists of an inhaler, dropper and sufficient Hymel to last several weeks. This will effect instant relief in ordinary cases, but for chronic and deep-seated cases of catarrh, longer use may be necessary and then an extra bottle of Hymel can be obtained for a trifling sum. It is not alone the best, it might be called the only method of treating catarrh, but it is also the most economical.

Walter Bros. have so much confidence in the power of Hymel to relieve catarrh that they will for a limited time, put this medicine under their personal guarantee to refund the money if the purchaser can say that it did not benefit.

power and beyond his influence, she said Della was the most lovable, kind and obedient daughter imaginable.

Girl Unmoved By Mother's Story

Throughout the mother's dramatic and pathetic narrative the daughter sat by her side apparently unmoved. This prompted the mayor to say her in scathing terms. The mayor said when first informed of the case he expected to find himself face to face with some common looking female. "But see what confronts me," said he, "look at those shoes, those garments, that hat, all up to the height of fashion. Why there are thousands of young men around here who would extend a gladstone invitation to so fascinating a person like her and to think she is throwing herself away on a person who has not the first vestige of good looks and who is about the most unmouth and unkept looking business man I have ever gazed upon."

"That man back there," continued the mayor, as he pointed towards the prison at the rear, "would not spend 75 cents for a license to marry you but he would willingly spend a fortune or all he possessed to travel around with you and shower you with all the luxuries possible just to rob you of your virtue. But after five years and after you have suffered the kicks and cuffs and he has tired of you, you will remember your dear mother and be only too glad to return to her protecting arms."

Mayor Comments Worried Mother

The mayor commended Mrs. Evans for the course she was pursuing, saying it was mother-like for her to extend a helping hand and try to lift up her daughter, ruined though she already was.

Turning to the daughter, the mayor, seeing she was still unaffected, said: "Your mother's heart is bleeding for you right now, and you, right now, down in the bottom of your heart are scolding your mother because she has come between you and keeping you away from that fellow out there."

The mayor told Mrs. Evans that the moment he learned the details of the whole affair he dismissed the charge of disorderly conduct that had been preferred against her and resolved to waste no time in bringing to justice the man who had destroyed her once happy home.

Speaking of the interview later the mayor said it was one of the most intensely pitiful sights he had ever beheld when the mother related the story of the troubles Smith had brought to her family circle and for him was one of the most trying ordeals of his official career. He said there had been events crowded into that

Father J. H. Cotter Of Ironton Pays A Beautiful Tribute To Father Gosselin Who Is At Rest

Fathers J. E. McGuirk of the Holy Redeemer church, and T. A. Goebel of St. Mary's church were among the many priests who attended the last rites of Father Gosselin at Ashland Wednesday morning.

The services were conducted from the Holy Name church over which the dead priest presided so faithfully for many years. Many prominent Knights of Columbus were present, the services being very largely attended. Business in Ashland practically suspended during the funeral hour this morning out of respect to Father Gosselin, who was practically known and loved by everybody in Ashland. The sermon at the funeral services was preached by Father Cotter of Ironton, who yesterday paid Father Gosselin the following pretty tribute:

Twenty-six years ago I met Father Gosselin. He was then a father pastor of the Holy Family church, Ashland, and I had just been appointed to St. Lawrence. He was then what he was Sunday, when at three o'clock, the hour of our Savior's death, he passed to Eternity—a gentleman, a scholar and a true priest.

If a gentleman is rightly defined as one who is considerate of the rights of others, then Father Gosselin fills superbly the definition. Always true to his own principles, he gave the credit of good intentions to those who differed from him, and thus proved his faith in his charity. He would rather believe a man to be innocent in error than to be formally and deliberately in sin. He was an optimist who, with Gallic enthusiasm, looked hopeful and happy. His genial and affable manner showed that he believed his religion—the religion of hope. In the sanctuary, and in the parlor, he always made manifest a gentleness which is ever allied to power. What child will dare accuse him of harshness, what adult of anger, what peer of aught but tender consideration? He left the world with nothing to apologize for in his past, and a better world for his having lived therein. He hailed all mankind as his brothers, and so no people of every creed or no creed lament his passing.

He was a scholar. I never knew one who had such a true judgment in estimating poetry. Oh, it is easy to say that anything from the great masters is good. For the critics have said it, and that ends the argument, but to have an eye for worth in a writer unknown to fame, that betokens one who can do his own thinking and judge from his own consciousness. Such a one was Father Gosselin.

Farewell my devoted friend! I lay this little tribute on your grave to nestle there and the flowers and the bays, the offerings of hearts and heads that loved and esteemed you.

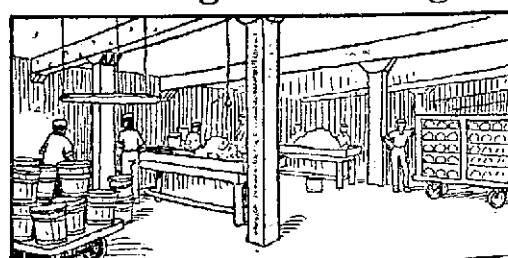

May Christ give you peace for He loved you and you in turn

London, Nov. 10.—A despatch from the Stefania News agency of Rome says that 100 shells were fired into the Ancona before she was torpedoed.

BULLETIN

Rome, Nov. 9 (via Paris, Nov. 10).—Prince Cassano Zupica was aboard the Ancona.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—Delicate information concerning the sinking of the Italian liner Ancona by a submarine flying the Austrian flag was anxiously awaited today by officials of the United States government. Dispatches containing little information other than that the ship had been sunk and that 270 of the 482 persons aboard were saved, received here early today, created a sensation in official circles.

Should it develop that Americans aboard lost their lives and that the steamer was torpedoed without warning, the American government probably would demand of the Austrian government disavowal of the act, reparation and assurance that there will be no repetition of the incident.

If administration officials decided that the matter is one calling for diplomatic exchanges, the first step probably would be to secure, through Ambassadors Peabody at Vienna and Page at Rome, official information from the Austrian and the Italian governments.

Until such data is received, no formal action probably will be taken. Meanwhile officials would make no comment.

The first report of the sinking of the Ancona said there were 422 passengers and 60 members of the crew on board. According to a previous dispatch, the number of passengers was 482, which, with a crew of 60, would give a total of 542.

Cape Bon, where two of the Ancona's boats landed with 54 members of the crew, is the northeastern extremity of Tunisia, about 70 miles east of Bizerta, where, according to advices last night, 120 survivors were landed. This makes a total of 324 survivors thus far accounted for.

"Peace Rumors Only Irritate"

FRENCH PREMIER

Paris, Nov. 10.—Aristide Briand, chief of the new war ministry of France, received the American newspaper correspondents in a body today, inviting them to ask questions or make requests relative to their work.

Asked regarding peace suggestions, he said: "What are these peace suggestions? They are heard first in one country and then another."

"They irritate at the present stage of war. I do not wish to consider them, even to the extent of a published denial and rejection. We can think of nothing but to drive forward to complete success by arms."

Speaking with much feeling, the premier added:

"Even to mention a peace by compromise or concession is to be untrue to those who are giving their lives at the front."

At another time when American was mentioned, M. Briand declared "the war has brought Americans much closer to us even than they were before. Frenchmen appreciate deeply the sympathy and good will of your countrymen. That, perhaps, is because every feeling is more intense now than in time of peace."

Talk Of Lexington Going Into Central

Lexington, Ky., Nov. 10.—When asked today if Lexington would seek admittance to the Central league next season, President C. F. Brewer said it is too early to talk about that. "First we must have some assurance from the fans that Lexington will give proper support to a baseball club," said he. The Lexington club this year broke a little less than even. Had they not sold Park and had not Blackwell been drafted they would have been considerably in the hole. The local club for several years has been backed by three or four men, and those now in possession of the franchise are not very sweet on their proposition.

LEANSE THE BLOOD BEFORE WINTER

Free yourself from the menace of bad health when the cold and wet sets in. Sufferers from Catarrh, Rheumatism, and Eczema are worse in winter. Take S. S. S. now.

Advice of this character has been given by our trained specialists year after year as summer began to wane and the coming of Fall heralded the time when storms and cold are near. We repeat this warning over. Sufferers from Catarrh will undoubtedly find the symptoms much aggravated as Winter approaches. But the first chill blasts the Rheumatism lets itself be felt. There are signs of winter Eczema—one in particular—called Tetter that causes a suffering when cold weather comes. The more aches and minor pains of Rheumatism not only change in winter, but the changes are apt to be so decided in their violence as to cause the most intense suffering. Horrible aching pains in the limbs, in the back, in the joints, even rheumatic pains in the head and face sometimes appear to be neuritis. Catarrh is back again, more intense than last winter with the continual hawking and spitting, headaches, dripping of mucus in the nose and throat, the stopped air passages and the foetid odor from the breath. Is it not a common-sense thing to do to avoid these troubles, to eradicate them from the system when it can be so easily done with a positive remedy such as S. S. S.? Remember, first of all, that the troubles we mention are blood troubles—deep-seated ones. Laugh at the man who recommends lotions, salves and local medicines. The trouble must be washed out of the blood. Thousands of people have been permanently relieved of blood and skin disease of every kind by the use of S. S. S., and many of those who, perhaps, at first did not find the results entirely satisfactory, wrote our physicians a full statement of their case, and a little advice hastened the relief. The only reason for wanting you to write us is that we may use every effort to see that you get the best result from the medicine. You can then help us by advising your friends to use S. S. S., which you will know from experience is all we claim for it. You can write with the assurance that all correspondence is held in strictest confidence, and that our physicians will give you helpful advice without charge. For sale at all drug stores. Refuse substitutes. Write the Swift Specific Company, Medical Department, Room 24, Atlanta, Ga.

The engine is similar to other small ones in use in mines but is made up different and has more power. The engine is run by its own storage battery, dispensing with the trolley pole. The new engine is a great improvement over the old type. GROWING PROSPERITY.

The daily newspaper correspondents and agencies reflect a growing and continuing prosperity which cannot be kept down. Their reports in themselves form the best of editorial refutation of the dwindling voices of the calamity howlers. Here is the recent development in Ohio:

"Continued improvement in business conditions is seen in the compilation of new corporations and of changes in capital stock of existing corporations authorized by the secretary of state. October compares favorably with some of the rush times."

"There were 187 new companies chartered during the month by the state. Their authorized capital was $5,791,000; increases to existing corporations were $8,973,700. This made the total gross capital $14,764,700. As reductions amounted to $2,072,500, the net increase in authorized capital was $12,692,200."

"Cleveland had 54 new companies, with $1,391,500 capital, and had increases of $1,267,700, but reductions of $1,394,000, making the net increase $1,265,200."

"Cincinnati had 15 new companies with $252,000 capital, but increases of $662,500 and reductions of $173,000, making the net increase $741,500."

"Columbus had 10 new companies with $541,000 new capital, and Toledo had 15 new companies, with $200,000. All other cities and villages had 93, with $3,406,500."

THE GERRYMANDER DEFEAT.

Some papers affect to see great political significance in the defeat of the Sprague gerrymander. As we said before the election, we believe it was largely a local matter with communities, some counties wanting to be shifted and some vigorously objecting to being shunted around every change of the moon. On the vote in Scioto county, if it had been viewed as purely a political measure, as the elections here went, the gerrymander would have carried by some 1,500 or 1,800 instead of 400. The conviction that Scioto would be of more consequence in the Sixth district than in the Tenth caused many Republicans to vote against the Sprague bill, and that was all there was to it. The Democrats voted against the bill because they felt the old apportionment was fairer and that it increased the consequence of this county.

And we firmly believe that by the time the next apportionment is made Scioto will be found unanimously in favor of the new district as against all changes proposed.

The former head of the Ohio Agricultural Commission is again a newspaper editor, and a good one. Also he is a good observer and knows what he is talking about when referring to the State Board of Agriculture. Read what he says in the Putnam County Sentinel (Put Sandles, of course) under head of "Buying Boosts at State Expense."

"Ohio pays big price for posies. Money is piled out of the state treasury. It's politics. Public officials who fail to earn complimentary mention in the newspapers often arrange to buy and pay for same. The American Agriculturist has worked overtime trying to excuse the Ohio State Board's failure in conduct of state fair matters. Records in state auditor's office show $494, charged by this paper for state fair advertising, or $250 more than last year, without bouquets. Political Posies come high."

Some cheerful sort of people living down around Danville, Kentucky. They had a revival in progress in one of the city churches and some individuals who did not like the brand of religion being handed out, left a sack of apples on the door step anticipating that there would be a rush for them when services were over. The rush came all right but the first man to take a bite noticed a peculiar taste to his apple. Examination showed that the apples had been doctored with paris green and that there was enough to have killed a mule in each apple. We wonder just exactly what sort of a disposition the person who would perpetrate a trick like that, could have.

With all the wirelessing there is going on in Europe right now we wonder that there has not been some good news from the stock of that famous London Wireless Company which disposed of its stock in Portsmouth in such a free and lavish manner a few years ago. The men back of it had a real pretty machine and they certainly made the blue fire sizzle and hum on the opera house stage. It was all so realistic that we remember seeing a large number of our prominent retired capitalists breaking their necks, as we say down here in Slabtown, to get their names down for stock. We suppose that they have just laid it away for a rainy day like we have done with our pretty shares of Ragland Oil stock.

State Fire Marshal Buckley says that the burning of leaves and rubbish inside village or city limits should be discouraged as flying sparks and embers may cause a serious fire. Burning leaves on asphalt or tar bound pavements damage them seriously.

Certain doings on January First, 1916, will disclose to an anxious world whether Uncle Billy Gims was only popular to the extent of 93 votes in the Republican primary or whether he hid the balance of his popularity in Mr. Kaps' back yard.

JOHN'S TURN.

DOWN THE SCIOTO.

(Columbus, Ohio State Journal.)

From Columbus down to the Ohio river, the Scioto Valley is about the finest country in the world—the home of prosperity, intelligence and joy. A little farther in that valley is near the height of an earthly acquisition. The plenty down there amounts to luxury. In front of a country church last Sunday afternoon, the automobiles were packed as thick as they are in front of Memorial Hall on a fete day. And not little second-hand roadsters, either, that rattle as they run; but large, capacious, shiny cars, that transport all the family in style and comfort along the level turnpikes. It almost makes a city fellow dissatisfied with his lot. We cannot imagine a happier destiny for a young man than to go down there and marry one of these old farmers' daughters—"if he kin," as Joshi Billings says.

If you have posies dear friends, prepare to scatter them over the buried political hopes of Druggist Dan Thomas. Dan, as the originalist Kaps man, may have thought that the position of director of public safety was his for the asking, but alas, it is not to be. From a perfectly reliable and trustworthy and confidential source, we are informed that Young Doc Sellards is already preparing to move down to the safety office on January First. We are told that this time Young Doc has taken pains to see that he is not left out in the cold and cruel world so shy of political clothes, that, as Irvo Cobb would say, he looked like the father of September Morn, as happened to him after his dear friend Frank B. W. went into the governor's office.

P. S. Young Doc escorted our new mayor up to Columbus Tuesday to shake the hand of Burton.

And so we were mistaken in hinting that there was a little feeling between the Mayor and Mr. Brennan. That which we thought were sledge-hammer blows meant to disfigure and destroy were only little love pecks and didn't mean anything at all. To get in good all around we will apologize for not being able to differentiate between a blow and a love tap. Bring up the peace wagon. We're ready too for a ride.

A little bird whispereth the news that Henry Ruel, the man who built the bridges, is going to sweep the streets after January First. 'Twill be a fine appointment, we must say that, but say, what about Mooge and his divine rights and perquisites? Why Mooge is even negotiating for Flannigan's outfit. Has he gotten the wires crossed somehow?

Worse and more of it. Though the state agricultural bureau is making all possible efforts to prevent it from becoming public, the fact is established that the last state fair was run at a loss somewhere around sixty thousand dollars. Fifty thousand free passes, issued almost solely to big and small fry politicians figured in producing the deficit.

Down in the alleged Queen City hatchets are sharpening for our good young Governor, according to whispers that are going about. May be some fellows can see the folly of voting one way first and then talking the other afterwards.

The Cincinnati fellows are laying that shrinkage in the anti-majority to one William J., who is just modest enough to admit it.

The next thing we may look to with eager anticipation is the putting in operation of the first interurban in and out of the Peerless.

England is so shocked because President Wilson sent her that last note. Good practice—she seems to be in a fair way for worse.

A Delaware chicken thief was mildly punished the other day. He got five years in the work house, $200 fine and twenty lashes at the whipping post.

The Norfolk & Western shops have been with us now for thirteen years. And yet the superstitions will insist there is ill luck in the number.

West Virginia is still worrying about that debt to Virginia she yows she will never pay. Then why not let the other fellow do the worrying?

It is an easy guess that with over six thousand votes cast the Peerless has over 30,000 people.

The school children of Portsmouth deposited $400 in savings in two weeks, and yet the penny is universally despised.

Bill Sulzer says Teddy Roosevelt is a corpse. Bill ought to know, he is some corpse himself in the political business.

NEW-YORK-DAY-BY-DAY.
O-O-McINTYRE.

New York, Nov. 10.—Harry Thaw made a hasty visit to Broadway last week but was very careful not to visit the gilded cafes. Surrounded by a group of detectives he spent most of his time in the shadows of the Waldorf. One wag suggested that he came to town to give Lieutenant Fay, involved in the bomb plot, a dress rehearsal in the way to change lawyers and issue statements. This, however, proved untrue. He came to New York to point out to citizens their civic duty in voting on the constitution, and having done that, he returned to Squirrel hill, his Pittsburgh home.

"Unless the new Constitution is defeated," said Mr. Thaw, "for twenty years the voice of the people will be stifled." Mr. Thaw's record as a champion of the people and as a worker for the public welfare decided many. They voted "Yea."

Psychist Hylop announced the other day that he had been in communication with W. T. Stead, who was lost on the Titanic, and that the deceased said he had a great fondness for waterdress.

Grantland Rice, the sporting writer, always thought that if a really great man "came back" he would give out inside information concerning some momentous question like that, so he was not disappointed.

Reinold Wolf is telling along the Rialto that J. Fred Zimmerman, Jr., read so much of the benefits of Twilight Sleep that he has been retiring every evening lately at sundown, but can't as yet notice any particular results.

Louis H. Chalif, the dancer, chanced to be in Erie the night that city was engulfed in the flood. The next morning, as he came down to breakfast at his hotel, he met the housekeeper.

"Have you seen the flood sir?" the woman asked.

"Yes," replied Chalif, adding by way of conversation, "it reminds me of the flood of Noah's time, doesn't it?"

"I can't say, sir," answered the housekeeper. "I don't have time to read the papers any more."

Bert Leslie has found a new cry for the subway guards. He lost several packages of merchandise while riding up-town the other night and says the guards should change their cry of "Watch your step!" to "Watch your stuff!"

There is to be a production of "Treasure Island" shortly at a Broadway theatre, and the press agent advertised for a genuine pirate to take part in the play. It is reported that he received 20 applications from members of the Hat Checker's Union.

Automobiles killed forty-three persons in the streets of the city last month. Twenty-seven of the victims were children. The total shows an increase of eighteen over the record for the same month last year. The biggest part of the increase appears in the borough of Manhattan. So accustomed has the public become to progressive frequency of motor car killings that even an average of nearly two for every working day will startle it only for a moment.

The Police Department has undertaken a special study of street accidents and the average New Yorker will be pleased to know that so far all it can do is to recommend him to "look out."

Wholesome advice but it requires a lot of quick-thinking.

Life
I sit all alone, by the fireside,
And gaze on this ocean of life,
I wonder if its worth the struggle
Of pain, and toil, and strife.

But its a shame to murmur,
For no matter where we roam,
Some one else has sorrow far greater,
And harder to bear than our own.

So let's brace up and be happy!
No matter what our lot;
There is sunshine and brightness tomorrow,
With all our troubles forgot.

Let's always be bright and cheerful,
Reach a hand that is gentle and kind
To those who have troubles far greater,
And tell them to leave it behind.

For while we are helping our brother,
Our own sorrow all is forgot;
So go help your sister in trouble,
And see how it will brighten your lot.

For in doing kindness to others
It brightens our own pathway;
So let's forget all our own troubles,
And help some one on the way.

For no matter which way you travel,
There is some one in help and need;
So try and help the fallen,
And heal a heart that would bleed.

For there is never a pathway so lonely
And never a way so dark,
But what the bright sun is trying
To make you a beautiful spark.

So brother and sister look upward!
Take a hand, reached out to you;
And remember God's love is shining
Why not let Him brighten your pathway all life through.

The Glory That Is Gallipolis
(Chicago Tribune)
Sir: Your correspondent did not rise to the full measure of his opportunity in referring to the blessed little city of Gallipolis, O., as being near Palestine and Athens. The atlas shows it to be within forty miles of Arabia, Venus, Jericho, Waterloo, Baden, Liverpool, Geneva and Carthage. Some little center of historical and geographical interest, what?

Pat and His Horse
An Irish horse owner whose horse had been prescribed for by a veterinary surgeon ran into the latter's office and, with tears in his eyes and on his face the "picture of bad luck," cried: "Oh, Mr. Moriarty, I'm poorly. The powder kilt me entirely!"

"The powder?" cried Mr. Moriarty. "Why, I didn't tell you to take the powder. I told you to place it in a paper tube and put one end in the horse's mouth and blow hard."

"Yes, sor," cried Pat. "I put the powder in the chube, and I put the end of it in the horse's mouth, with the other end in my own, but, begorrah, he blew first."

MRS. EVANS BELIEVES GOD IS PUNISHING HER

Says She Idolized Her Daughter And Forgot All Else; Tells A Sad Story

Lon D. Smith, the Ironton furniture man, whose alleged relations with Della Evans, a young stenographer of this city, led to his arrest last Sunday and subsequent imprisonment, was released from the county jail Tuesday evening about 8 o'clock on $300 bond, furnished by his brother-in-law, Larkin Covert, of this city.

Smith was bound over to the grand jury under bond of $2000, but Judge Stephenson reduced the bond to $300 after he had been placed in the county jail, the bond having been placed too high for the offense charged, according to the court. Smith returned to Ironton Tuesday night, a friend coming after him in an automobile.

The charge of white slavery was not placed against Smith in this city, but it is understood that the attorneys for Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Evans will press those charges against him before the United States Commissioner at Ironton. Mr. Evans went to Ironton for that purpose Tuesday noon.

Mrs. Evans to whose lot it fell to become Smith's nemesis, rattled the family skeleton in describing to Mayor Adam Prick, Tuesday, the events leading up to her daughter's downfall.

The broken-hearted mother was the picture of distress as she passionately expressed the belief that she was the victim of retribution. "The first six years of my married life I begrudged others their children, whether it was because we didn't care for children or could not have any I could not say, but when this little girl came into the world I idolized her above my Maker, and throughout her infancy loved her more than all else and never gave anyone else not even God a thought, and the Almighty must now be punishing me for it," said she. Mrs. Evans said she and her husband schooled the child, giving her a musical and commercial education to the best of their ability and the future held out great hopes for her.

Daughter Went To Work For Smith

When they moved to Ironton, where Mr. Evans was employed in the new Excelsior factory, the daughter secured employment at Smith's furniture store as bookkeeper. Some weeks later she came home in a terrible frame of mind. She said she was in dread of her employer and declared she would never return to the store again. The mother, who was then an invalid, having just passed through a long illness, argued with her that it was but fair that she give Smith due notice of her intention to leave and not to leave him in the lurch. Della accordingly returned to the store but that same day told him she was going to leave. Smith got down on his knees and begged her to stay, telling her what all he would do for her. She remained firm in her decision. This made him desperate and he accused her of being short in her accounts and threatened her with exposure and arrest. Later he admitted that he had framed up the story as a subterfuge to keep her in his employ, Mrs. Evans said. Mrs. Evans said she wrote to Smith's wife telling her that her condition precluded her from visiting her and asked that she (Mrs. Smith) visit her, suggesting that they might settle matters between them as comfortable as possible to all concerned.

Says Mrs. Smith Made No Reply

She never came and made no reply to the letter. Mrs. Evans to make sure that her letter reached its destination sent a friend around to the Smith home. This friend inquired of her if she had received a letter from Mrs. Evans and she said she had. Later after she was able to walk Mrs. Evans said she went to Smith's store to discuss matters with him but was ordered from the place. Mrs. Evans said her daughter confessed to her that Smith had ruined her but she could not bring herself to believe it and it was now just beginning to dawn upon her how he had dragged her child down. When out of his power and beyond his influence, she said Della was the most lovable, kind and obedient daughter imaginable.

Girl Unmoved By Mother's Story

Throughout the mother's dramatic and pathetic narrative, the daughter sat by her side apparently unmoved. This prompted the mayor to say her in scathing terms. The mayor said when first informed of the case he expected to find himself face to face with some common looking female. "But see what confronts me," said he, "look at those shoes, those garments, that hat, all up to the height of fashion. Why there are thousands of young men around here who would extend a glad invitation to so fascinating a person like her and to think she is throwing herself away on a person who has not the first edge of good looks and who is about the most ineffectual and unkept looking business man I have ever gazed upon."

Mayor Commands Worried Mother

The mayor commended Mrs. Evans for the course she was pursuing, saying it was but mother-like for her to extend a helping hand and try to lift up her daughter, ruined though she already was.

Turning to the daughter, the mayor, seeing she was still unaffected, said: "Your mother's heart is bleeding for you right now, and you, right now, down in the bottom of your heart are scolding your mother because she has come between you and keeping you away from that fellow out there."

The mayor told Mrs. Evans that the moment he learned the details of the whole affair he dismissed the charge of disorderly conduct that had been preferred against her and resolved to waste no time in bringing to justice the man who had destroyed her once happy home.

Speaking of the interview later the mayor said it was one of the most intensely pitiful sights he had ever beheld when the mother related the story of the troubles Smith had brought to her family circle and for him was one of the most trying ordeals of his official career. He said there had been events crowded into that eighteen months' clandestine courtship between the married mother and young stenographer to fill a big sized book.

Merchants Banquet Will Begin At Six Thursday Evening

Time of the annual banquet of the Business Men's Association Thursday evening at "The Club" has been changed from 7 o'clock to 6 o'clock. Members of the association are expected to go direct to "The Club" after closing their places of business at 5:30 o'clock. Ladies of the All Saints church are busily engaged in preparing the details of the banquet, which will be one of the finest ever served in the city. Covers will be laid for about 130 guests. After the banquet is served, members of the association will hold their annual election, three directors to be chosen from a field of nine candidates. The other six directors hold over, three for one year, and three for two years, longer. Later the directors will organize by electing a president, vice president, secretary and treasurer. Corn Growers To Make Trip; Poor Girls Must Stay Home

Ohio girls who won prizes in domestic science contests throughout the state during the past few months will not get to go to Columbus for a week's special training in the department of domestic science at Ohio State university. The legislature appropriated $8,000 for junior contest work, and it was supposed that these girls would get their share of it. Last year nearly every county was represented when about 100 girls went at the state's expense to the university. This year none will go. The word has just been given out that the state board of agriculture will need all the money to finance the excursion to Washington, and to pay part of the cost of bringing champion corn-growers to the state fair.

A HAPPY LIFE.

Happiness is not to be procured like hard bake in a solid lump. It is composed of innumerable small items. The recipes for its acquisition are simple, and therefore we ignore them. Love in marriage, fidelity in friendship, affection between parent and children, courtesy in intercourse, devotion to duty and perfect sincerity in every relation of life—these are the ingredients that go to make a happy life. —Sarah Grand.

One Great Seal Lost.

History records the irrecoverable loss of only one great seal—the first of George III. This event occurred when Lord Thurlow was lord chancellor. One morning in March, 1784, his lordship's residence in Great Ormond street was broken into by burglars, who carried off the great seal, along with a sum of money and two silver lifted swords. The privy council was summoned to deal with this great emergency, and the royal engraver was ordered to produce another great seal, which he did in thirty-six hours by working day and night. Lord Thurlow always slept with the new seal under his pillow during the subsequent years he was lord chancellor.—London Mail.

Buggy And Auto In Bad Collision

Charles Coleman's buggy had a wheel broken about eight o'clock Tuesday evening when a West Virginia touring car struck the buggy the accident taking place at Third and Gay streets. Coleman, who lives on the Boulevard was coming south on Gay and the automobile was going west on Third. The machine was going slow at the time or a serious accident might have occurred. Mr. Coleman was thrown from his seat but escaped injury. The buggy was repaired and the damages paid for by the driver of the automobile.

AUTO STRIPPED

Arthur Getlach received word Tuesday that vandals Sunday stripped the automobile of Karl Gerlach, his brother, of Cincinnati, of everything of value attached to it. "They would probably have taken the machine if it had not been securely locked." The auto was left standing in front of Mr. Gerlach's home, and the thieves easily took a number of the accessories. Mr. Gerlach is manager of the Race Street, Cincinnati, branch of the Ford Motor Company.

WHAT'S THIS, NO TURKEY FOR THE BUSINESS MEN'S BANQUET?

Farmers of Scioto county are holding their turkeys for the Thanksgiving season. Ladies of the All Saints Church, who will serve the annual banquet of the Business Men's association Thursday evening, exhausted every effort to secure a sufficient number of turkeys for the banquet, without success. They found plenty of turkeys, but the owners have penned them up to fatten them for the Thanksgiving market.

Mrs. Luther Griffin, wife of the man who was struck by Clay Adams' automobile Saturday night, entered a strong denial Tuesday to Adams' claim that her husband was intoxicated when the accident occurred. Griffin is rapidly recovering from his injuries, and will be able to be out again in a few days, his wife says.

Meaning of Dreams.
Dreams are not the disordered phantasmagoria of a partially sleeping brain, but are logical and well ordered wishes and desires. The dream reaches the true inner man, his various motives and desires, hidden from the view of others and often hidden from his own conscious thoughts. Consequently, when rightly interpreted, dreams are the real key to the riddle of human life, because through them the door is unlocked to our unconscious and our real selves. The unconscious is our true self, not our conscious thinking, with its rationalization of all our mental processes.—"The Meaning of Dreams."

A Roman Dinner.
A Roman dinner at the house of a wealthy man consisted chiefly of three courses. All sorts of stimulants to the appetite were first served up, and eggs were indispensable to the first course. Among the various dishes we may instance the guinea hen, pheasant, night-fowl and the thrush as birds most in repute. The Roman gourmands held peacocks in great estimation, especially their tongues. Macrobius states that they were first eaten by Hortensius, the orator, and acquired such repute that a single peacock was sold for 50 denarii, the denarius being equal to about eightpence halfpenny of English money.—Chambers Journal.
